

3. LANGUAGES OF THE WORLD

<previous - next>

Some details on categorization and statistics of languages:

- International Partners in Language Development (SIL) counts 7,000 different languages (see Grimes, 2002)
- Languages are grouped into families / phyla
- Ca. 100 families and phyla
- More than 75% of the known languages belong to 10% of the families
- 2/3 of the world population speak languages belonging to only 2 families: Indo-European and Sino-Tibetan
- For toponymy, numbers of speakers are not the sole criterium of 'importance'.
