

Displaying a grid theme

When grid themes are displayed, each cell is filled with a color. Cells contain values and values are mapped to colors through a legend. Legends can be classified so that each cell value is displayed with a unique color or groups of values given the same color. Cells are always filled with a solid pattern and this pattern can not be changed.

What do you want to know about displaying a grid theme?

- [»\] Changing the colors used to display cell values](#)
- [»\] Choosing an appropriate legend type](#)
- [»\] Grouping cell values into categories: Classifying your data](#)
- [»\] Altering brightness of a grid theme](#)