

Output Grid Specification (Dialog box)

Displays the properties that will be used to create output during an operation on a feature theme. The following properties can be viewed and changed.

- The spatial extent.
- The cell size, or resolution.

Dialog box options

Output Grid Extent The spatial extent for the output theme. The Output Grid Extent can be set to

- Same As View - Sets extent of the output theme to be the same as the view extent.
- Same As Display - Sets extent to the extent of the display.
- Same As <Theme> - Sets extent to the extent of whichever theme in the view you choose.

Output Grid Cell Size Sets the resolution that will be used to create the output grid theme. This option is only available when the view contains one or more grid themes. The Output Cell Size can be set to

- As Specified Below - You set the cell size by typing it in.
- Same As <Grid Theme> - Sets the cell size to the cell size for whichever grid theme in the view you choose.

Cell Size The cell size to be used for output grid theme.

Number of Rows The number of rows that the output grid theme will be created with.

Number of Columns The number of columns that the output grid theme will be created with.